Students Go To Polls Monday In SBP Elections

Six Seeking 3 Offices

By Wilbur Flachman

It isn't November, but the air around the campus is filled with political influence.

Voters will go to the polls Monday to select the top official for next year's student government. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday.

In the running for the president and vice-prexy are four juniors, Dennis Wessels, Jim Schwarz, Keith Lunde and Herb Hafermann. The four, along with their campaign managers, presented their platforms in Thursday's Student Body meeting. An additional statement has been prepared for the Trumpet for students consideration before voting their selection Monday.

Wessels Says—

Denny Wessels, a member of Science Club, Beta Beta Beta, W-Club and IM committee, said, "Student interest is definitely the goal of the candidates, and this is good. Even at the college level, student government needs the understanding and intelligent support of every student.

"I have become even more aware of the complexity of our government and the need of a sincere and dedicated man at its head, and of dedicated personnel down through the ranks. This consideration was definitely in my mind, and I believe, in the minds of the other candidates when we signed the paper which nominated us.

"To supplement your interest, my campaign committee and I presented as solid and definite a platform as possible.

Monday's voting will be done preferentially. Students will rank all four candidates, 1-2-3-4, in the case of Student Body President and Vice-President. All ballots that aren't completed properly will be discarded according to elections chairman Larry Stumme.

Improved initiation, student enforcement or administrative enforcement of parking laws and alteration of Student-Faculty committee status are definitely issues of student interest and should be handled by the government next year.

"Please know your candidates and their platform and understand the preferential system, then vote."

Schwarz Adds—

Jim Schwarz, who headed the Homecoming activities last year and is a three-year veteran of work in the Student Senate, says "In my platform I have been willing to break with elusive, traditional platform types in order that I might bring you a realistic point of view. This was done after realizing that past platforms were often not carried out and that such a platform would not allow me to express my actual knowledge and belief. The result is an explanation of a method of procedure which will help me become effectively orientated into the job which I am asking you to give me.

"I hope that you will read and thoroughly contemplate all the platforms and please vote on Monday."

Lunde Proposes—

Active in a number of activities on campus is music major Keith Lunde. Lunde's aspirations were summarized as such by his campaign chairman Louis Becker, "This is the last chance we have of talking to you directly and we would like to

Turn To Candidates Page 5

More Votes Are Planned

Nominations are now being accepted in the Student Senate office for Homecoming chairman and class presidents for next year.

According to elections chairman Larry Stumme, sophomore, the deadline for nominations is Thursday. All candidates must be chosen by a member of the individual's own class, according to Stumme.

Don Hamilton, senior, head of the pops concert committee, reported this week that the Harry James Concert Monday fell $45 short of paying all expenses. Hamilton explained that ticket receipts totaled $1550, but the entire bill for the concert and advertising came to slightly over $1600.

Student Body Project is nearing its goal according to project boss senior Bill Jurgens. Over fifteen hundred dollars is now in the fund for the new scoreboards for Knights Gymn. Of this total, approximately $750 was collected at the annual Student Body Carnival March 28. Sophomore Norm Litzner, who headed the carnival this year, turned over that amount to Jurgens last week. Litzner stated that nearly one-half of the entire amount collected at the carnival was netted from the king and queen contest.

In other government action this week, Student Body President John Adix reported that the Senate has taken early action to make this year's Outfly go off as smoothly as possible.

"The Senate voted to go along with the rules of the student handbook," stated Adix. The policy on Outfly according to the student handbook as found on page 38 reads like this:

Dates of Outfly must be chosen by the proper student committee and authorized by student government in order to receive permission for Outfly. Permission is granted in accordance with the following regulations:

1. Outfly is held only on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.
2. Outfly may not be held on a day before or after any school holiday.
3. Spring Outfly, 1958, will be permitted only after April 29, 1958.

Alumnus To Teach Math

William L. Waltmann has been engaged as mathematics instructor for the 1958-59 school year. Waltmann obtained his B. A. at Wartburg College in 1956 and will receive his M. A. from Iowa State College this summer.

He served as teaching assistant at Iowa State College for two years and worked as programmer at the White Sands Proving Grounds, N. M., last summer.

While a freshman at Wartburg, Waltmann received the mathematics achievement award. He presently is a member of Phi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity.

Waltmann

Iris Heaney At Interstate Meet

Iris Heaney, Wartburg senior, and Thomas Doran, Loras College, Dubuque, will represent Iowa at the Interstate Oratorical Association contest to be held at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich., April 24 and 25.

Heaney

Miss Heaney was first place winner in the women's oratory division at the Iowa Forensics Association contest held at Drake University. She will compete in the divisional rounds on Thursday, April 24, with students representing states as distant as Pennsylvania and Colorado.

Emil Kuebler will be at Osage, Laura Rieckenberg at Tripoli, Marilyn Walther at Strawberry Point, although the grade they will teach is still uncertain.

Secondary teachers are Kay Fritschel, world history, Eagle Grove; Don Hamilton, instrumental music, Plainfield; Iris Heaney, German and English, Waverly; Nancy Mista, physical training, Humboldt; Eugene Oltrogge, high school math and junior high coach, Monona; Wayne Venter, Carpenter, physics and mathematics; John Werner, English and speech, Hampton.

Think Carefully – Then Vote!

Monday, Wartburg students will go to the polls to elect the three major Student Body officers for next year. If the usual campus apathy is shown, only slightly more than half of the eligible voters will take the minute ambition required to appear in Luther Hall and register their votes.

But to those who do take advantage of their democratic prerogative, a few words to ponder over before casting those ballots.

Clearly, the most important office is that of Student Body President. What should be the criteria in judging the candidates?

In keeping with its usual policy, the Trumpet is not backing any one particular candidate. The paper is interested in promoting student government as a whole and feels it can better do this by presenting the facts and letting the final decision rest with the students.

But in the interest of student government, here are a few points to consider before casting that ballot on Monday.

What does Wartburg need in the way of a Student Body President?

First, it needs a man who is experienced in student government, a person who knows the ins and outs of Senate activity and has demonstrated his ability in this area.

Second, he must have shown his leadership abilities and have demonstrated to the students that he is capable of taking responsibility and can work for successful student government.

Third, he must realize that taking this office is a full-time occupation and that any other activities in which he is engaged are purely secondary considerations. Student government must not suffer from an absentee regime.

And fourth and final, he must be progressive. Satisfaction with the status quo is decidedly not a prerequisite for a student official. He must be prepared to lead an aggressive and dynamic program and he must be the leader — not a follower.

Naturally, these points may be idealistic. It is probably too much to expect that any one candidate should or even could possess all of these qualifications. On the other hand, when the choice is made, these points must be kept in mind.

Think carefully — then vote.

Academic Freedom Week- 'That Constant Sifting'

Next week is Academic Freedom Week. It is one of the hundreds of "weeks" promoting special causes which are common on the American scene. And no doubt it will raise just as much notice as do most of the other special promotion weeks.

But it would be well to consider for a moment this matter of academic freedom. First of all, what is it?

Academic freedom is basically the right to search for the truth with an open mind and without being forced to acknowledge one path merely because this is the desire or policy of any governing authority.

Academic freedom is a precious and cherished right on the American scene. It is not universal and will never be universal as long as there are people in control who feel that they have a monopoly on what constitutes the truth.

No person or group has the complete truth, because truth depends upon interpretation and interpretation varies.

The question will also arise — Does Wartburg College have academic freedom? Do the students and faculty members have this freedom of search and research?

Here too, the answer depends upon interpretation. In the main, the answer to this question would have to be "Yes." Yes, academic freedom does exist on the Wartburg campus.

This freedom must be cherished and it must be nurtured so that it may be more fully utilized and that it may be developed. A right of this type can fall into disuse and as a result, be lost for the future.

This must not be allowed to happen. Christ told us that "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." But in order to know the truth, we must constantly be alert to find the truth and to protect the right to look for it.

It would be well if Wartburg would copy the University of Wisconsin and place in a prominent spot on its campus the words which are inscribed on a bronze plaque in Madison:

"Whatever may be the limitations which trammel inquiry elsewhere, we believe that the great State University of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continued and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone the truth may be found."

VOICE OF THE CAMPUS

Writer Says Congregate

Dear Editor:

This letter is in regard to an editorial which recently appeared in the Trumpet concerning the establishment of a campus congregation. After reading this editorial there was a question in my mind. "Must we wait until we have a chapel-auditorium before we can establish a congregation?"

About a year ago, feeling was running high in favor of worship on campus. A poll conducted by last year's Senate showed that students favored the establishment of a campus congregation by a 2-1 vote. Many students were also in favor of a campus congregation under present facilities.

During the present school year, however, little or nothing has been done with regard to this issue which was dealt with extensively last year. But interest has not died out. I have talked to many students who are still definitely convinced that we need a campus congregation. But, action on such an important issue must come from within the realm of student government.

I think we should pick this thing up where last year's Senate left off. I don't think we need to wait until a chapel-auditorium is built to establish a campus congregation. St. Olaf established a campus congregation long before its chapel was built and Luther is planning on doing the same thing. Why don't we see some action on the Wartburg campus along this line?

Give Kids A Chance To Dance Again, Says Famous Band Man, Harry James

By Bob Loslo

"I don't knock rock and roll."

This was an unexpected comment that was made last Monday night by a surprisingly congenial and interesting bandleader, Harry James.

James elaborated on the subject by saying that because rock and roll has a beat, it has helped the band business considerably by giving the "kids a chance to dance again."

When asked if he thought swing was coming back, he was quite emphatic that swing never left.

"Good music doesn't die," he stated as he waited for eight o'clock to roll around. By nine he had proved his point. But just to make sure, the band sailed into one of his all-time great numbers, "Two O'clock Jump."

In few bands can there be found the enthusiasm that these members had for both their work and their leader. Most of them have been with Harry between four and eight years, but still expressed the same eagerness that a newcomer just making the big time would display. One of the numbers on Monday night's show was the result of a jam session that got going in the bus on the way to Waverly.

Before the show started, the band was in an off-stage classroom watching James devise some mock football plays on the blackboard that obviously was not a Forrest Evasheski approved system. After the show James went over to his Wartburg lighting crew and personally thanked them.

The friendly atmosphere that the entire band displayed during their short stay in Waverly is surprising when you consider that they drove all day Monday to get here and had to pack everything and drive all night Monday in order to make another one night stand in Illinois before opening for a five-day stay at the Blue Note in Chicago on Wednesday.

James was in a special swing television show with his old boss last week and said that it was a big kick being back with Benny Goodman again. The Harry James Orchestra, which was one of the few big bands to stay in business after the big swing era of the thirties and early forties ended, will be on Patti Page's "Big Record" television show in the near future.

Some of the audience were a little surprised when Harry James stepped out on stage for the Wartburg Pop Concert. He was a little older than the publicity pictures had led to believe, with a streak of Steve Canyon-like gray hair on his head. But when he picked up the trumpet and began to play, there was no doubt that they were being charmed by the ageless tradition of Harry James.

HARRY JAMES strains for a high note during the concert he and his band presented Monday evening in Knights Gym.

Talents Must Be Used To Be Useful - For This Is The Command From God

By Larry Stumme

Every piece of coal, every flowing river, every ounce of uranium has as one of its characteristics potential energy. Yet what good is this energy if it is not harnessed and put to use?

Each individual may be thought of in this same manner. God has given each of us talents and abilities. We all have potential. But I know that I am safe in stating that there is not one among us who is operating at his full potential. We are "hitting on 5 cylinders" so to speak.

Stumme

There are still powers within us that have not been harnessed and put to use. Even some of present efforts are feeble compared to what we could do.

When The Almighty gave us these gifts, he expected us to exhaust them or else why would he have given them to us? Out of gratitude and love for Him how can we help out use these gifts to his glory?

Consider what would happen if we did develop our talents. Our studies, our participation in organizations, as well as our religious life would all reap its benefits.

I challenge each and every one of you, as well as myself, to realize our own capabilities and talents and to convert them into a living and a truly powerful force — not tomorrow but today, now.

Many Men Found Guilty: Romping with the kiddies or just lounging around while their wives are in the laundry slaving over a hot washtub. If we make you feel guilty, Mr., wake up to the fact that our modern laundry is a time, work and money saver. Waverly Laundry

Why the man who hires you will ask if you own life insurance:

When you apply for a job, one of the questions usually asked is, "Do you own life insurance?"

A well-known personnel director explains it this way. "We always ask whether a man has life insurance, and we ask how much he owns. Why? Because the answer gives us a pretty good idea whether the fellow is well-organized, is handling his financial affairs wisely, and planning for both his own and his family's future.

"If we find a man with a wife and two small children and a thousand dollars of insurance, we wonder why he's taking such long chances."

This shows one reason why so many young men today are making Lutheran Brotherhood life insurance a basic part of their financial planning. Lutheran Brotherhood—with low-cost plans such as the Brotherhood Provider—makes it easy to avoid the risk of putting a severe burden on your parents, family or dependents. The low cost also makes it easy to start building your insurance program right now while still in college. This means you can have full protection throughout the years of heaviest family responsibilities, and then at retirement get back every premium dollar, plus a substantial gain on your investment.

Talk to your Lutheran Brotherhood representative about the advantages of beginning your insurance program early, when the rates are lowest—or write for details on Lutheran Brotherhood policies.

Need $$$ - Name The Wings

Looking for money?

Then this might be for you. The Trumpet, in co-operation with the college administration, is offering cash prizes to the persons submitting the best names for the wings of Centennial Hall.

By action of the Board of Regents last fall, the name of the combined unit will continue to be called Centennial Hall. However, each wing will be given a separate name.

Entry blanks are printed in this week's Trumpet and are available at the Publications House. Complete details will be announced later. Final approval must come from the Board of Regents. Closing date for the contest has been set for May 10. Contest is open to all students and faculty.

request a favor of you. Before you go to the polls on Monday, we would like to ask that you would examine the platform of each candidate. Take a careful consideration of what each one has to offer you, the student; for as each of you know, no vote is intelligent or wise unless the voter has first been carefully informed. When you go to the polls, know what you are voting for and remember Lunde on Monday."

Finally, Hafermann—

Another with a long list of activities behind his name is Herbie Hafermann, a pre-theological student. Herb says: "Wartburg College is suffering growing pains as it begins its transition from the role of a small college to a more complex type of organization. The students are the ones who feel the sharpness of these pains most acutely. I feel that it is the function of student government to look out for the best interests of the student body during this period with the aim in mind of providing the best possible conditions for students during the next year as well as for future years. It is necessary to have strong government and leadership so that the students can get the best possible representation before the administration. Realizing the limitations of student government, I still believe that we should take action on such items as dancing, wages, public relations, student voice on academic policies, a revised representative system, the campus church problem, and I therefore have included them in my platform."

The two secretarial candidates up for office are juniors Elizabeth Unmacht and Lois Fritschel.

Banquet, Prom Plans Are Laid

Plans are nearing completion for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Spring Prom according to John Pavelka, publicity chairman. The banquet will be held at St. Paul's Parish House May 10, at 6:30. Immediately following the banquet, the all-school prom will begin in Knights Gymnasium. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music provided by the Rockets.

The price for the banquet and prom are $1.75 and $1.50 respectively.

April Art Show Is Contemporary

Miss Helen Wright, art instructor, has announced an exhibition of the work of Ellen Thomas, Augusta, Ga., during the month of April in the Fine Arts Center sponsored by the Studio Guild.

"The remarkable thing about this exhibition is the variety," commented Miss Wright. "I can't believe that the same person did every piece," she added.

Variety in the exhibition can also be found in the various media used by the artist. For the 20 paintings being exhibited, Ellen Thomas used lacquer, oil, casein, crayon, ink, watercolor and tempera.

The pianist will make her second appearance with the music of Brahms—"Intermezzo, Op. 116, No. 4" and "Ballade, Op. 118, No. 3."

Tuesday the Knight tracksters host TC in a dual meet. The Knights should be able to dent the powerful Panthers attack in the 100 yard dash, the hurdle events, the 440 yard dash, the high jump and the 880 yard run.

Thinclads Drop Duel

The Wartburg track team was defeated 87½-43½ in a dual meet here by the Iowa Conference perennial track power, Dubuque, Saturday afternoon.

Track captain Nelson Bose, three-time Iowa Conference

Bose

high hurdle champ, won both hurdle events for the only Knight double in the meet. Bose, senior, was particularly impressive in the 120 yard high hurdles with a winning time of :15.6.

Equals Record

Bill Streng, holder of the Wartburg 440 yard dash record, equalled his own mark with a winning time of :51.6. In winning the event, Streng knocked off the two Dubuque entries, McGregor and Bowling, who had just two weeks before finished one-two in the Iowa College indoor 350 yard dash. Streng also placed second in the 220 yard dash.

Knight thinclad Andy Polis, junior, went 6' 2" for second place behind Kempthorne, Dubuque's conference champ, in the high jump. Polis also won a tie for first in the pole vault with an 11-foot effort, and placed third in the javelin throw.

Skay Supports

Also aiding the Knight effort was freshman Eddie Skay who captured seconds in the 100 yard dash and the broad jump.

Bob Stob, junior, and Phil Moeller, senior, both picked up seconds, in the one mile and two mile. Bob Boettcher, freshman, Walt Bolin, sophomore, and Bill Riggle, sophomore, also scored for the Knights.

Tracksters Fail At Loop Relays

Knight thinclads failed to win a first in the Conference Relays at Pella Friday, although several fine performances were turned in by Knight entries.

Andy Polis again came through for the Campbellmen, finishing in a three-way tie for second in the high jump at 5' 11". Polis, as well as two other conference high jumpers who have been clearing 6'2" or better this year, were hampered by the poor approach to the high jump bar.

Perhaps Wartburg's best team entry in the Conference Relays year in and year out, is its shuttle hurdle relay. This year, again, a strong team, anchored by Nelson Bose, was expected to garner a little recognition for the Knights. Unfortunately, because of a false start, the team was disqualified, after decisively winning its heat of the event.

Both the sprint medley and the distance medley teams captured seconds, while the 880 yard relay team finished fourth, behind very strong competition. Meet records were broken in both the 440 yard and 880 yard relays.

The Knight mile relay quartet again improved its time, finishing third in 3.36.2.

The most encouraging performance of the day was turned in by Ulrich Columbus, who ran the 440 yard leg of the distance medley relay. Columbus, who has competed regularly in the dishes and the broad, found the 440 yard distance to his liking, and turned in a commendable time of 53 seconds.

Been Busy On Saturday Afternoons? Andy Polis Runs, Jumps, Throws Then

By Bill Melvin

Anyone think they spent a busy afternoon last Saturday? Better consider Wartburg's all-around trackman, Andy Polis, and his afternoon before you decide.

The Knight cindermen met Dubuque in a dual meet and Andy was on hand to compete in four events for the team and to score points in three of them.

Field events began at 1:30 and hustling Andy was entered simultaneously in three events, the high jump, the pole vault and the javelin throw.

Andy got in his share of running, however, as the javelin throw was at the south end of the field, the pole vault at mid-field and the high jump at the north end. All afternoon he scooted up and down the field to throw here, vault there and jump up yonder.

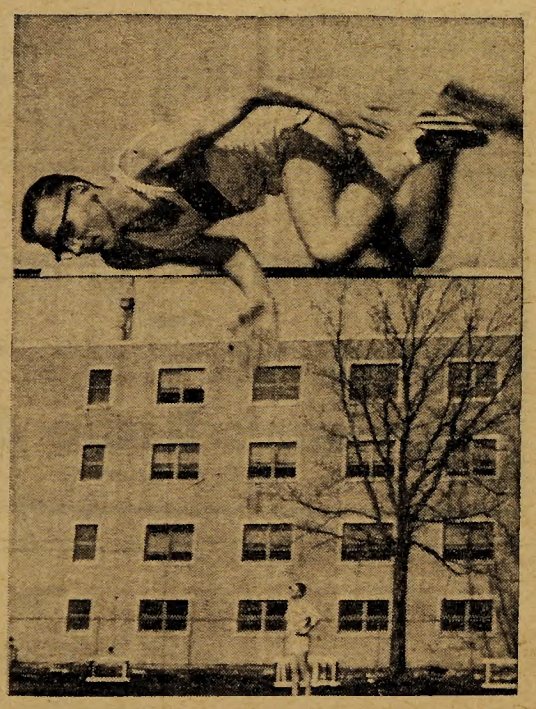
In the meantime he heeded the call of the starter and hustled to the west end of the track to participate in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Results for the day for Andy: he finished in a tie for first in the pole vault, second in the high jump and third in the javelin throw. In the high hurdles he finished just out of the money in fourth place.

Despite finishing second in the high jump, Polis notched a height of 6'2" which equals the outdoor record set by Carl Anderson. Unfortunately, the athlete has to win the event before it goes down in the records and Gary Kempthorne of Dubuque sailed over the bar at 6'3".

"I did get a little tired," smiled Andy as he thought over the afternoon, but his grin seemed to indicate he enjoyed every minute of it.

The next time you complain about too much to do on Saturday afternoon just take time off to trot down to a track meet and watch Andy Polis as he cavorts for the Knights.



UP AND OVER the building is the way it looks as the Knights' versatile trackman, Andy Polis, leaps to second place in the high jump.

SCHROEDER'S SLANTS

By Duane Schroeder

Since every red-blooded American boy and girl dreams of being either President or a sports columnist, and since most of these hopefuls can't play golf well enough to qualify for the first position, this week's sports column will be devoted to the prevention of frustrated columnists.

In other words every columnist on the Trumpet will get a chance to write Schroeder's Slants.

As "Knight Beat" would say: "Hoo! Hah! Gang! It's time for the Vollmer House marathon. What's a marathon? It goes this way. About twelve Vollmerites take a trip.

"They go to New Orleans in one of the gang's car. They get there and have a good time. They run back to Waverly, because they ran out of money for gas."

"Whirled Affairs" would say: "On the national scene the President again refused to admit the advent of a recession to the country and stated that things were looking up as he reported that a group of students from a small Midwestern college, after visiting one of our Southern cities and making a slow, but thorough, trek and survey throughout a selected portion of the country, reported that business was booming in certain areas and that this would certainly have an effect upon the lives of many individuals, especially those with inclinations toward comfortable living standards, though they did admit that as they neared the end of their journey, they didn't feel as though they could look at the country through eyes that reflected the rose colors of optimism."

Or "Wartburg's Week" would say: Friday, 4 p.m. — Marathon Starts.
Monday, 4 a.m. — Marathon Ends.

As "Footnotes to Faith" would say: "Let me illustrate my point. Twelve boys went into a far country to participate in athletic competition. Being among friends, they spent their sustenance in riotous living. Upon finding their sustenance gone, they decided that their marathon should begin. Now this illustration points out what I have been trying to say."

"Let's Meet Friends" would say: "Hi. Looks like a busy week. But let's be sure that we go out to greet our spiritful friends as they come bravely running back from New Orleans. "Bye."

Knights After Wins 3, 4 Against Simpson Redmen

By Martin Matthias

Fred Jaspers, senior, and Marv Ott, freshman, will take the hill this afternoon in a double-header as Wartburg goes after its third and fourth straight Iowa Conference wins. Game time is 1:30. Despite last night's showers, the field is in sound shape for today's tilts, according to Head Coach Earnest Oppermann.

According to Wartburg coach, Earnest Oppermann, Simpson is expected to field a rugged team. Returning pitchers, Zahn and Schoonover, are expected to handle the Redmen's mound duties.

Last season the Knights bowed twice in a twin bill to the one-hit hurling of these pitchers. Thus far Simpson has defeated Luther in double-header Iowa Conference play and Drake of Des Moines of non-conference record. Earlier this week the Redmen picked up their third conference win by downing Central.

TC Wins

Wartburg took the short end in a 7-0 non-conference loss at Iowa State Teacher's College Wednesday. Folsum of ISTC held the Knights to four hits while Jaspers, Ott, and Saathoff allowed a total of ten hits including a homer by Shinn, TC right-fielder, in the seventh.

Exner of the Wartburg tribe connected with a double in the eighth but was left stranded in scoring position.

Breaks Arm

Reuben Drefs, freshman from Delmont, South Dakota, suffered a broken arm during practice earlier this week.

Saturday, April 12, saw Wartburg top Iowa Wesleyan in double-header conference wins 15-2 and 11-1. Fred Jaspers faced the Wesleyan team on the mound in the first game. Charlie Maahs hit a four-run homer in a big third inning while Denny Wessels followed with a solo blast in the fourth. Jaspers also homered for the Knights in the fifth.

Davis Homers

Davis, Iowa Wesleyan left-fielder, homered for the losers in the third.

The second game saw Arlyn Saathoff relieve the three-hit pitching of Marv Ott in the seventh inning. Ralph Wolken and Dave Jensen renewed the onslaught by each nailing a round-tripper.

Buena Vista will host Wartburg in a night game April 22. The defending Iowa Conference champs are expected to present good competition after their early season games with Tulsa and Oklahoma State. The Beavers, sparked by senior, Jerry Ibach, have been recently plagued with injuries.

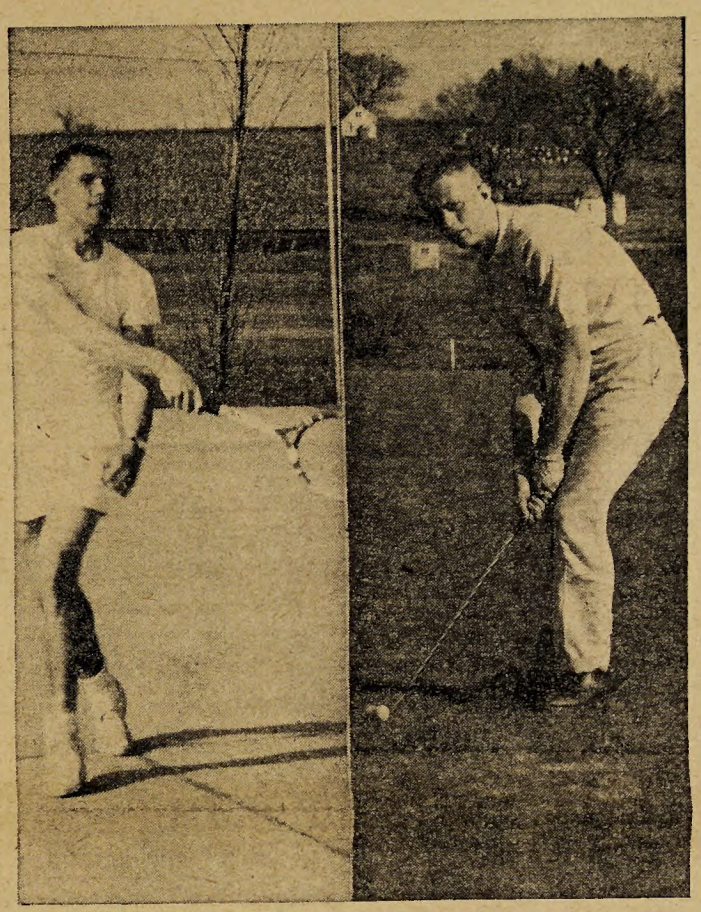
Tennis Opener Cancelled, Linksters At Dubuque



TENNIS LETTERMAN Les Huth gets set for the opening of Wartburg's home racket season, while golfster Bill Anderson gets in a practice putt on the Waverly links.

* * * * * * * * * *

Dubuque University won the conference doubles tennis championship, beating Central 6-1, 6-3, yesterday at Pella. Wartburg's representatives, Jack Warber and Stan Vogel, dropped a 6-1, 6-3, decision to Keith Paulsen and Al Heggan of Luther in the opening round.

Coach Norm Johansen's golfers swing into action today when they travel to Dubuque for a triangular with Dubuque University and Rockford College, Rockford, Ill. They return to Waverly and the local links to tee off against rugged ISTC on Wednesday, and compete with conference foe Luther on Saturday.

The Knights will go to Des Moines on Friday for the Iowa Invitational. Last year Wartburg finished eleventh in this annual All-Iowa College tournament.

Beaten Twice

Last season the Knights were beaten twice by ISTC, while spliting with Luther in two contests. Both of these matches were decided by one point.

In their season's opener on Saturday, the linksters fell before the onslaught of a strong Loras squad. Ranked as one of the top golfing teams in the state, the Duhawks lived up to advance billing by beating Wartburg 14½-6½. McGrew of Loras copped medalist honors by firing a sizzling 74. Senior Bob Bracklein scored the only clear cut victory for the Knights as he won 3-0. Sophomore Gary Hummel added 2½ points and veterans Dick Rausch and Lyle Wilharm each contributed ½ points.

Anderson No. 1

In today's meet, junior Bill Anderson is expected to tee off as number one man with Bob Bracklein in the number two slot.

With the opener against Luther College cancelled because of a conflict with the conference doubles tournament at Pella yesterday, Coach Ax Bundgaard's tennis squad must wait until next Wednesday for its first action when they travel to Decorah to face Luther.

Thursday, the netsters will journey to Cedar Falls to play Iowa State Teachers College. The Knights will climax their week's activity when they tangle with Central College next Saturday on the home courts.

Norse Tough

Last year, Luther dumped the Knights twice, and ISTC clipped Wartburg once to account for all of the team's dual meet losses. The Norse also won the Iowa Conference meet. The Knights finished with a 4-3 record and a fourth place finish in the conference meet.

Counted on to improve this year's record are the four returning lettermen: seniors Stan Vogel, Les Huth, Jack Warber and Earl Himmeger.

Vogel is playing the number one position, followed by Huth, Warber, Himmeger, and freshmen Dick Jebsen and Don Wente. Vogel and Warber have clinched the number one doubles team slot and represented the team at the tourney yesterday.

Volleyball Competition Close To End, Ping-Pong, Bridge Still In Progress

Coed volleyball again holds the spotlight in intramural activity as only three more nights of competition remain on the league schedule.

Four teams are still in contention, with Bill Streng's outfit boasting the only perfect record. Tied for second with two defeats are the teams of John Melhaus, Phil Moeller and Dave Jensen.

Both the ping pong and the bridge tournaments are in progress. With over half the matches already played, the records of the six couples participating in bridge are: Chellevold-Moeller 2-0, Michels-Rebelein 2-1, Engelbrecht-Grube 2-2, Brothers Wilharm 1-2, Jensen-Platt 0-1 and Rausch-Koopman 0-1.

Keen Competition

"At times, the competition at the bridge tables has been spine-tingling," attests Wartburg's bridge enthusiast, Ray Norheim.

The following competitors have advanced to the quarter-finals of the ping-pong tournament: Dick Chellevold, Bob Johansen, Duwayne Carnes, Jerry Burrack, Jim Boyenga and defending champ Doug Schuldt.

Spring Schedule

A proposed spring IM schedule, including softball, track, golf, tennis, and a horseshoe tourney, will soon be under way.

Volleyball Standings

Bill Streng	8-0
Dave Jensen	6-2
Phil Moeller	6-2
John Melhaus	6-2
Wayne Slack	4-4
Dick Jebsen	4-4
Don Sahling	4-4
Joy Eisenhauer	3-5
Larry Niemann	3-5
Nelson Bose	2-6
Fred Jaspers	2-6
Charlie Maahs	1-7

Groups Stress The Religious

By Kay Fritschel

Four religious organizations on campus — four enthusiastic and active presidents — and four different purposes. These are Wartburg's extra-curricular activities that not only concern themselves with spiritual life on campus, but also endeavor to spread Christian faith elsewhere. Each has its own special sphere.

If you've been around Wartburg very long, chances are that you have attended at least part of the Little Ashram which is held at Camp Ingawanis every spring. Little Ashram plans occupied one entire evening this week for junior Marlene Haibeck, president of the Lutheran Student Association. At least it is now called Lutheran Student Association.

Haibeck

"By the end of this year the new constitution will make our organization an official LSA," Marlene explained. Marlene was actually elected president of Luther League. The new constitution will link the organization with the LSA of America. Organized on a national, state, and local basis, the Wartburg organization boasts as one of its members the Iowa Region vice president, Bob Hannemann, senior. A former member, Arthur Diers, is now the national president. Adviser of the group is Mr. Robert Smith.

The World Day of Prayer for students on February 16 was conducted by the LSA. However the organization has other purposes beside religious ones. "It works to provide fellowship, strengthen the spiritual life of the campus, and stimulate intellectual thought," said Marlene. A bowling party and a reception for incoming freshmen are included among the projects. The organization also corresponds with Dallas Johnson, a former member who is working in Greece.

One of Wartburg's select organizations which simply bars all women is Chi Rho. Senior Fred Downing heads this ninety member organization which is sponsored by the Rev. August Baetke and the Rev. Walter Tillmanns.

"Pointing our members toward the ministry is our main purpose," said Downing. "Another purpose is to further religious life on the campus."

The annual Christmas Candlelight service brings the rest of the Wartburg student body in contact with the organization.

"That is probably the highlight of the year, especially since it has been incorporated with 'Christmas at Wartburg'," stated Downing.

Downing

"We also take charge of part of the ushering at St. Paul's," he continued. "We usher for one Lenten service and at all Sunday morning 8 o'clock services."

Beside hospital visitations, radio devotions and county home visits, the organization sponsors the Trumpet column, "Footnotes to Faith."

"This year we also participated in a clothing drive in conjunction with St. Paul's," Downing added. "Twice a year we tour the seminary in Dubuque."

Chi Rho is especially proud of its programs.

"In May, Dr. Speigner, a Negro sociologist, who is president of North Carolina University for Negroes, will speak. Our annual banquet is a high point also," he added.

An active group on campus, Mission Fellowship, headed by Herbert Hafermann has about fifty members.

According to Hafermann, "It was organized for all those students interested in the foreign mission program of the church and especially for those interested in entering the mission field."

Mission Fellowship, which is sponsored by the Rev. Waldemar Gies, engages in a variety of projects. At the present time, it is planning to send 100 hymnals to a missionary in Ghana, Africa.

Hafermann represented the enthusiasm of the organization as he told the story of this missionary. "After being converted to Christianity, he came to the United States, on his own, and received education in Lutheran seminaries. After he returned to Ghana he set up an autonomous Lutheran church and has now asked for hymnals."

Hafermann

The organization also sends American postage stamps to Bethal Mission Institute in Germany. Sunday schools in New Guinea and Japan receive religious pictures to use as teaching aids from the Wartburg Mission Fellowship. Fifty dollars was sent to CARE and food was packaged and sent as Christmas presents to missionaries in Nigeria.

"At the present," said Hafermann, "we are running a collection for Lutheran World Action."

Here on campus the Mission Fellowship not only sponsored Mission Emphasis Week last fall, but contacts mission speakers for the campus, carries on a correspondence with overseas missionaries and participates in hospital visitations and county home visits.

Remember those Christmas Cards you bought last December? The Phebes were again at work on one of their pet projects. For the women on campus who are especially interested in church service, Phebes seems to be the answer.

According to Phebes president, Virginia Grimm, senior, the name was taken from the sixteenth chapter, first verse, of Romans. "Phoebe was a worker in the church who helped St. Paul in his congregation at Rome," said Virginia.

Miss Perna Lohn and the Rev. Karl Schmidt are advisers to this organization. Women interested in parish work form the majority of the 42 member group.

"We also have some interested in social work, Christian Day Schools and medical missions," Virginia added. "The purpose of our organization is to give experience in the future work of its members, mainly parish work, and to provide an opportunity for them to become acquainted with the heads of our church and their work."

Grimm

The organization has been active in carrying out this purpose.

"Before the school year is out, we hope to establish an organization for Christian Day School teachers on this campus," said Virginia who is especially interested in this field.

Other projects include the "Epistle," a paper which is put out every two months, containing letters from former members working in the field, information from the advisers and articles of general interest to the members.

"We also work in conjunction with other religious organizations in giving radio devotions, county home visits and hospital visitations. Last year we did canvassing for a congregation in Waterloo," Ginny stated.

"Now," she continued, "We are setting up a schedule for former members who are now Parish Workers to write to the organization. We always have the former volunteer parish workers give a program so that we can encourage our own members to go into this work. The organization's varied program of panels, speakers and discussions is a help in preparing the parish worker for her future career."

Let's Meet Friends

By Kathi

HI!

Well, gang, get ready for the final six weeks of rushing. Upperclassmen know what I mean and the freshmen will know soon enough.

Baseball is the word of the season. Today the Knights meet Simpson on the home diamond. Game time is 1:30 — let's all turn out.

Lutheran Student Association has an important, highly important meeting, according to president Marlene Haibeck, Sunday in the Faculty Lounge. Everything new will take place . . . election of new officers, ratification of the new constitution and discussion of the new Lutheran Hymnal. Little Ashram, coming soon. Will also be a discussion item.

Let's go right down the week in order.

Monday brings music and politics. Young Republicans will have James Coddington, county attorney, as featured speaker on that evening. Luther Hall 207 at 7 is the essential phrase. The topic sounds of interest, "Liquor Laws and Juvenile Delinquency."

And there's a track meet Tuesday afternoon too. Here. With ISTC. On the track, naturally.

Music Educators National Conference accounts for the music angle by meeting at 7:30 in the Fine Arts Center, 107. Monday, that is.

Tuesday, ah yes Tuesday, brings to mind convo and for a refreshing change I can recommend the program planned for that day. Particulars are not forthcoming.

• • • •

Thursday evening, Camera Club meets in Luther Hall, 203. Time? 7:15. Something's bound to be clicking there!

That is all for this week but there are a few things in the not too far distant future to remind you of.

An ex-Trumpet editor, Chuck Lutz, will be the speaker at the annual Press Banquet May. 3. Lutz is the eidtor of One Magazine. Ticket price, $1.75, includes a dance. APG members are selling the tickets.

Junior-Senior Banquet and All-School Prom follow on May 10. Check elsewhere in this edition for details.

All these banquets etc., mean money. If you need some, why not enter the Trumpet's contest to name the dorm wings — of Centennial that is.

Lest you forget. Monday is election day. Let's all get out and vote. Since Pogo isn't running we'll just have to take the next best . . .

Last minute info . . . Alpha Phi Gamma meets Tuesday in the Pub House at 6:15. Important.
